

Contents

§ 1 General Introduction

- I. Why studying German public law?
- II. The concept of public law
- III. The spectrum of public law
- IV. General characteristics of German public law

Part I: Constitutional law

§ 2 Basics of constitutionalism

- I. Concept and types of constitution
- II. The constitution as a legal institution
- III. The pouvoir constituant (constituent power)
- IV. The constitution as binding law
  - 1) The legal character of the constitution
  - 2) The direct applicability of the constitution
  - 3) The primacy of the constitution
  - 4) The interpretation of ordinary law in conformity with the constitution
- V. Constitutional interpretation
  - 1) Classical methods of legal interpretation
  - 2) Discussed additional specific methods for constitutional interpretation
- VI. Milestones in German constitutional history

§ 3 The Basic Law for the Federal Republic of Germany of 1949

- I. The making and development of the Basic Law
- II. The role of the Basic Law in German law, politics, public administration and society
- III. The influence of the German Basic Law and constitutionalism on the development of constitutionalism in Europe and beyond
- IV. The German Basic Law and European integration
- V. Overview over the Basic Law

§ 4 Germany as a free and democratic constitutional state

- I. Theoretical background: How fundamental constitutional decisions on the fundamental values and ideas define the constitutional identity of the state
- II. European background: Fundamental decisions in European constitutions as implementation of the European common fundamental values
- III. Human dignity as supreme constitutional value
- IV. The decision for sovereign statehood in a republican system
- V. The principle of democracy

- VI. The principle of separation of powers
- VII. The decision for federalism
- VIII. The social state principle

§ 5 In particular: the principle of the rule of law [Rechtsstaatsprinzip]

- I. Fundamental idea and historical foundations of the rule of law
- II. Different manifestations of the same fundamental idea in Europe: "Rechtsstaat", "État de droit", "rule of law" and "general principles of law"
- III. Constitutional backgrounds of the rule of law in Germany
- IV. The various elements of the rule of law
  - 1) The subjection of all activity of public institutions to the law
  - 2) The principle of statutory reservation
  - 3) The principle of separation of powers
  - 4) The principles of legal certainty and protection of legitimate expectations
  - 5) The guarantee of effective legal protection
  - 6) Constitutional principles of criminal and criminal procedure law
  - 7) Principles of administrative procedure
  - 8) State liability for illegal acts of public authorities
- V. In particular: the principle of proportionality [Verhältnismäßigkeitsprinzip]

§ 6 The German parliamentary governing system (short overview)

- I. Introduction
- II. Constitutional organs
  - 1) The Bundestag
  - 2) The Bundesrat [Federal Council]
  - 3) The Federal Government
  - 4) The Federal President
  - 5) The Federal Constitutional Court (introduction)
- III. Federal legislation
- IV. The execution of federal laws

§ 7 Fundamental rights

- I. Human and fundamental rights
- II. The fundamental rights guaranteed in the Basic Law (overview)
- III. Types of fundamental rights
- IV. Fundamental rights as directly binding law
  - 1) Fundamental rights as directly applicable norms addressing to all public institutions
  - 2) The prohibition of public servants to execute orders or laws that contravene fundamental rights
  - 3) The effective enforcement of the fundamental rights as a primary mission of the courts
  - 4) Fundamental rights as a limit to democracy
- V. The interpretation and application of ordinary law "in the light of" the fundamental rights
- VI. Functions of fundamental rights, duties of protection
- VII. Holders and addressees of fundamental rights
- VIII. The dogmatic structure of (defensive) fundamental rights
  - 1) Scope/sphere of protection [Schutzbereich]
  - 2) Encroachment/interference [Eingriff]
  - 3) Fundamental rights' limits [Schranken] and limits of limits [Schranken-Schranken]

- IX. The limitation of fundamental rights encroachments by the principle of proportionality
- X. Exercise in practical case-solving in the field of fundamental rights
  - solving a simple practical case on fundamental rights in accordance with their dogmatic structure
  - with a first introduction to the German methods of legal case-solving

8 Constitutional jurisdiction

- I. Constitutional jurisdiction as an essential element of modern constitutionalism
- II. Constitutional jurisdiction and separation of powers
- III. The German Federal Constitutional Court [Bundesverfassungsgericht]
- IV. Types of proceedings before the Bundesverfassungsgericht
- V. In particular: the constitutional complaint [Verfassungsbeschwerde]
- VI. Special problems

Part II: Administrative law

§ 9 Introduction to German administrative law

- I. Administrative law as part of public law
- II. The distinction of administrative law from private law
- III. The history of German administrative law (overview)
- IV. Legal sources of administrative law
  - 1) Federal law, Land law and European Union law
  - 2) The types of legal sources
  - 3) The hierarchy of norms
  - 4) The speciality of norms (lex specialis principle)

§ 10 Administrative bodies and competences

- I. Public administration on Land level, local level and federal level
- II. Federal administrative bodies
- III. Land administrative bodies
- IV. Local government bodies

§ 11 General principles and concepts of administrative law

- I. The principle of legality of public administration [Gesetzmäßigkeitsprinzip]
  - 1) The principle of the primacy of the law [Gesetzesvorrang]
  - 2) The principle of statutory reservation [Gesetzesvorbehalt] (repetition)
- II. In particular: the phenomenon of the constitutionalisation of administrative law
- III. Discretion and dealing with indefinite legal concepts
  - 1) A problem of separation of powers between the executive and the judiciary
  - 2) The German distinction between exercise of discretion [Ermessen] and interpretation of an indefinite legal concept [unbestimmter Rechtsbegriff]
  - 3) The limitation of judicial review of discretionary decisions to certain cases of incorrect exercise of discretion [Ermessensfehler]
  - 4) Exceptional margins of appreciation of public administration in the interpretation of and subsumption under indefinite legal concepts [Beurteilungsspielraum]
- IV. Legal certainty and protection of legitimate expectations in administrative law

§ 12 Administrative action

- I. Forms of administrative action (overview)
- II. The administrative act (= administrative decision) [Verwaltungsakt]
  - 1) The concept of administrative act
  - 2) The legality of the administrative act
  - 3) The exceptional invalidity of an unlawful administrative act
  - 4) The withdrawal and revocation of administrative acts
- III. The administrative procedure
  - in particular: the hearing of participants
- IV. The administrative review of administrative acts in the objection proceedings

§ 13 Special administrative law (brief overview)

- I. Public security and order law
  - in particular: the concept of averting danger [Gefahrenabwehr] for the public security and order [öffentliche Sicherheit und Ordnung]
  - in particular: general authorisations and special authorisations in public security law
- II. Civil servants law
  - in particular: the principle of selection of the best candidates for the civil service
  - in particular: the traditional principles of professional civil service, including the obligation of comprehensive loyalty to the state and the constitution
- III. Public construction law
- IV. Environmental law

§ 14 Judicial control of public administration in Germany

- I. The German system of administrative courts
- II. Important characteristics of administrative jurisdiction in Germany
- III. The recourse to the administrative courts
- IV. The forms of action before the administrative courts
- V. In particular: the action for annulment of an administrative act [Anfechtungsklage]
- VI. Admissibility and well-foundedness of actions before the administrative courts
  - 1) The distinction between admissibility and well-foundedness of a legal action
  - 2) The requirements for the admissibility of the action
  - 3) The requirements for the well-foundedness of the action
- VII. Interim protection
  - in particular: the suspensive effect of objections and actions for annulment against admin. acts

§ 15 Exercise in practical case-solving in the field of administrative law

- solving a practical case concerning the legality and the judicial review of an administrative act
- with further introduction to the German methods of legal case-solving

More information on this course at www.iuspublicum-thomas-schmitz.uni-goettingen.de and Canvas. For any questions, suggestions and criticism please contact me in office 219, via WhatsApp or via e-mail (tschmitl@gwdg.de).